A Week of Gratitude

In the days leading up to Giving Hearts Day, have each member of your family write something they're grateful for. Then, on Giving Hearts Day, give to charities that are working to provide those same things for others.

Spend, Save, Give Jars

Have your little ones set aside some money each day/week/month in their piggy bank – some to spend, some to save, and some to give. Then, have them use the “give” funds to donate to their favorite charity on Giving Hearts Day.

Host a Giving Gathering

Host friends and family to tell them about a charity your family is supporting this Giving Hearts Day. You can use the charity's mission as your theme, and share with your guests how they can give back!
